

Renaissance Capital

Renaissance Capital – The IPO Expert – is the leading provider of independent research and investment management services focused on Initial Public Offerings. Renaissance Capital manages the first mutual fund dedicated to IPOs and has launched a new IPO Index, a comprehensive benchmark designed to capture the essence of the IPO universe.

Intelligence

Renaissance Capital enjoys a well-earned reputation as the definitive source for the latest IPO research. Analysts are frequently quoted in the financial press, and IPOhome.com has over 1 million hits per month. The company concentrates on four core offerings: research, public education, the mutual fund, and the newly launched IPO Index. All IPO resources are now united under one brand with distinctive channels for each of the core offerings enabling clients to quickly access specific resources and see a connection to related Renaissance Capital offerings.

Inspiration

Renaissance Capital was named for the spirit of innovation and entrepreneurialism that resonates among new business initiatives. The new identity is inspired by Renaissance architectural columns and patterns, yet it is positioned for the 21st century. Each core business is color-coded. Users may click on the channel that relates directly to their needs and easily access the wealth of data and resources that have made Renaissance Capital the IPO expert.
